Airman Back Home After Long Search

Made Flight Only To See Girl Who Says She Won't Wed Him

DALLAS (AP) — Donald Keeton, the airman whose suicide note and erratic plane flight from Mississippi set off a two-state search, walked into his mother's home Saturday and later into his girl friend's arms.

Thus ended a three-day hunt for the 19-year-old airman during which searching authorities were dogged by the fear he would crash the plane deliberately and kill himself.

"The only reason I did it was just to come and see Lynn," he said in an interview at Hensley Field, Dallas, where air police took him after city police had arrested him. He said:

"I knew I couldn't make it in a car, and I knew I could in a plane. The only way they'd get me down would be to shoot me down, and I knew they wouldn't do that."

Shortly after the interview he was transferred to Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth.

He said the suicide note he had left before taking off Thursday from Gulfport, Miss., was a hoax, designed to delay pursuit, after he could not obtain leave from his station, Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

The girl friend, Willow Doris Lynn Bowling, 17, embraced the nervous airman, whispered to him, and told reporters:

"I know I'll never marry him. He knew that before this."

She said she is too young to marry. But the blue-eyed blonde's actions certainly would have misled police and newsmen.

She arrived breathless at police headquarters, where Keeton first was taken, and almost flew into his arms. Earlier, she had sought him at the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Belle Keeton.

After the reunion the pretty high school senior said she will continue to date Keeton, to whom she has been engaged twice.

Keeton told newsmen that "I still haven't given up hope of winning her back."

Keeton took off at 8 a.m. Thursday in the rented plane from Gulfport, flew to Alexandria, La., for fuel but obtained none, landed at a strip near Longview, Tex., and again obtained no fuel.

He nursed the craft to a field 17 miles northeast of Tyler, Tex., and set it down.

"There's not a scratch on it," he said.

Police Chief Asks Drivers to Observe Stripe on Second

"The white center stripes on Second Street from Osage to Lamine can be a big help to traffic if motorists will use the marker as a street divider," Chief Ralph Hamlin said Saturday.

Explaining the principal of the line, Chief Hamlin said if cars will travel eastward two abreast and use the marker as a guide, it can move the traffic across Ohio much quicker, thus eliminating a bottleneck in traffic at Second and Osage.

Many motorists overlook the fact that riding the center of the street roids up other cars in back of them. If those cars planning to turn left at Lamine will take the left hand lane and those planning to turn right at Ohio and also at Lamine will take the right hand lane, twice the number of cars can move eastward.

There is no ordinance which governs the dividing line as to a penalty, but courtesy of the motorists using it will be appreciated, Hamlin said.

Sedalia Has 4.36 Inches Of Rainfall

High Winds Cause Extensive Damage At Concordia Friday

Muddy Creek overflowed its banks early Saturday and about 9:30 p.m. went over U. S. Highway 65 about seven miles north of Sedalia. At 10 o'clock it was reported to be nearly five inches deep and still rising.

The State Highway Department dispatched a crew to the scene and drove warning stakes along the pavement so traffic could move through. However, should the water reach a depth of 10 inches, the highway will then be closed to traffic. The highway crew is remaining at the scene until the water recedes.

Flat Creek was reported going out of its banks in the lowlands south of Sedalia and near U. S. Highway 65, but it was far from reaching the pavement. At the Sedalia Water Co. pumping station at 11 p.m. the water was running swift but was not out of its banks at this point. The water was showing a steady rise, however.

Low places throughout the city continued to remain full of water until late Saturday night. With the steady rain which began falling again shortly before 10 o'clock the water was slow in going down.

Although Sedalia was deluged Friday night and Saturday with 4.36 inches of rain, no damage was done by winds and apparently only Houstonia had any side effects from the Friday night storm which caused extensive damage at Concordia after a tornado approached the town but veered away. There were no injuries in the community of 1,286 population.

The state highway patrol reported a tornado funnel bore down on the town from the west at about 6 p.m., but veered south minutes before it reached the city. The winds came from the northwest. Hail stones up to two inches in diameter fell in the area.

The roof was blown off both the north and south sides of the St. Paul's Lutheran church and the gymnasium of the St. Paul's Lutheran College was also decapitated.

A new home under construction near the Lutheran Church was moved about ten feet from its foundation. The building was owned by Vernon Rehkop. Other numerous buildings were damaged and trees and television antennas were strewn all over town.

Missouri Public Service workers had electricity restored to some residential areas by 10 p.m. and worked far past midnight to restore full service.

A house trailer being pulled west on Highway 40 by a pickup truck was blown off the highway.

Sedalia had .61 inch of rain at 10:30 p.m. Friday, winds up to 25 miles per hour, and hail up to 3/4 inch in diameter.

Giant Texas Firm Under Probe

Local Firm Figures In Contract Controversy

Drew Pearson, in a telegram to The Democrat-Capital Saturday, said the National Engineering and Manufacturing Co. of Sedalia has lost out in a controversial bid for a $242,000 contract to produce electrical equipment for the Civil Aeronautics Authority, but apparently the battle is not yet over.

The controversy arose when a firm said to be controlled by the giant Clint Murchison firm of Texas emerged low bidder for the contract. Congressman Morgan Moulder protested and the controversy began. In his wire to Sedalia, headed "Murchison Wins Again," Pearson explained:

"Clint Murchison, the big Texas oilman, is listed by Fortune Magazine as among the 75 wealthiest Americans, worth between $100 and $200 million. But the other day the Small Business Administration did a flip-flop and rated one of his subsidiaries as small business."

"At stake was a Civil Aeronautics Authority contract for $242,000 for the manufacture of cabinet-type relay racks, which, under the Small Business Administration, was supposed to go to small business. "At first the contract went to Murchison's company. Then, when Congressman Morgan Moulder of Missouri, champion of Small Business, protested, Small Business Administrator Wendell Barnes ruled that the U. M. and F. Corp. of Carrollton, Tex., was ineligible because it was controlled by the giant Murchison interest."

"I have determined that an affiliation exists between them and Murchison, which precludes their eligibility to compete on government contracts as a small business concern," Barnes wrote Moulder on May 21.

"As a result, the contract was about to go to the next lowest bidder, the National Engineering and Manufacturing Co. of Sedalia. Suddenly, however, something happened. On June 3, Barnes reversed himself. He ruled that the Murchison company, which he previously had disqualified, was now eligible."

"Congressman Moulder has presented the facts to the House Small Business Committee which is investigating. Some of the points it is probing is the influence of Murchison in Washington. He was a heavy contributor of Ike's campaign, helped finance the pre-convention bill in 1952, loaned a prize Irish stallion to Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore, for his racing stable in Virginia."

Late Saturday, the National Engineering and Manufacturing Co. issued this statement:

"From the investigations we have made of the background and affiliations of this Murchison company, we feel that this latest decision of the Small Business Administration, Mr. Barnes, is at variance with the facts of the case and violates the spirit and meaning of the Small Business Act of 1953, which was intended to protect small firms like ours from the economic depredations of the industrial giants."

"This contract would have kept 100 Sedalia men at work for a period of three months at a time when the normal business of the National Engineering and Manufacturing Co. is at its lowest."

"Sen. Symington and Rep. Moulder have been of great assistance to us in presenting the facts of this case to the Small Business Administration and they are continuing their efforts to have this injustice righted and have the employment this contract represents restored to Sedalia."

"The higher the bracket, the greater the discrepancy, Reed said, so that firms using over 1 1/2 million gallons would have been charged at a rate of 7.14 cents, or less than half of the company's costs."

For this reason, the manager explained, the block rates in those higher brackets have been eliminated, so that now any consumption above 1,700,000 gallons is all charged at the same rate, which is 12 cents a thousand gallons.

All other rates for consumption less than that amount remains exactly the same.

Those rates are as follows: For the first 10,000 gallons a month, 52 cents a thousand gallons, for a possible maximum charge of $5.20; for the next 40,000 gallons, 45 cents, for a possible maximum of $18; for the next 50,000 gallons, 40 cents, for a possible maximum of $20; for the next 10,000 gallons, 32 cents, for a possible maximum of $32; for the next 500,000 gallons, 24 cents, for a possible maximum of $120; and for the next one million gallons, 16 cents, for a possible maximum of $160.

Added together, they total 1,700,000 gallons, with a total possible maximum charge of $355.20. It is the consumption brackets above this total amount that are being eliminated and combined into one rate of 12 cents a thousand gallons. The change in the top brackets

In olden days the common black pepper, native to India, Siam, Indonesia and the Philippines, was a rare and priceless luxury. The Greeks valued it for its medicinal qualities. The Goths of the early 5th century prized it so highly that they extracted large amounts of pepper as tribute from conquered enemies.

City Beautiful Recreation At Warsaw

By D. Boring
There is much activity going on in Warsaw at the present time which includes city improvements, beautification and recreation. Each business house along Main Street has cooperated splendidly. The beauty plan included placing flower boxes, of the business mans choice, outside the entrance ways to the stores. Since Warsaw is noted for its gunstocks, several of the boxes have gunstock legs which are very attractive. Each month every business house will be judged and a small money gift will be awarded the most attractive boxes. The planer type boxes were made by Rev. William Jackson.

Warsaw's summer recreation program started Tuesday and includes League baseball, as well as golf. Director John Lenox said that if enough persons are interested, a summer softball league will be organized. Players can be from any age group, with adults welcomed. Babe Ruth and Little League players will not be included. New lights were to be installed at the ball part last week. The Warsaw new swimming pool north of Warsaw is nearing completion and will be opened for the public around July 1. A great many applications have been received for posts at the new swimming pool according to City Attorney William Neff. Jobs open include that of a pool manager, life-saver, swimming instructor, cashier and a concessions operator. Wage rate will be 50 cents an hour. Members of the committee studying the applications include, William Neff, Dr. W. K. Shepardson, and Druggist Lloyd Parsons.

Work on widening Main Street in the courthouse block will get underway as soon as the necessary clearance is obtained from Missouri Public Service Company. Dr. Gus Salley, mayor, said that the widening project would entail removing the "parkway" area between the present curbing and sidewalk and install a new step-up curbing approximately against the present sidewalk. Mayor Salley said that work on the Missouri Public Service clearance would start as soon as manager Carl Hoepfinger returns from his vacation. Purpose of widening work is to increase parking space on Main Street. Salley said that through angle parking, three automobiles can be parked where now only two cars can park.

Sees Impact Of Television On Religion

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — The fact that there are 42 million TV sets in America is a big challenge to the Rev. W. Carlisle Walton Jr. "If we can come into the home with good religious telecasts, we can make a tremendous religious impact upon the people of our land," he says.

The Rev. Mr. Walton, pastor of Raleigh's Longview Methodist church, was named recently to the new post of director of television ministry development of the Methodist Church's Television, Radio and Film Commission with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn. The Rev. Mr. Walton has dabbled in the field as a member of the commission for the past four years, so he has some ideas of what religious television should seek to accomplish.

"Religious television," he says, "is a projection of a pastor from the pulpit for the church and an attempt to reach the unchurched."

"The significant thing is this: there are about 50 million homes with about 42 million television sets in the United States. Each runs about six hours a day."

"That, coupled with the fact that a picture is worth a thousand words, promises a great future for religious television. Actually, the sky's the limit."

To accomplish its purpose, the Rev. Mr. Walton believes, religious television must make the viewer identify himself with the persons on the screen. If this is done adeptly, he says, it can focus immediacy and authenticity on theory and make the concepts of religious teaching live and breathe for the viewers. The Methodist TV commission currently is planning a new television series of 13 installments to be called "Talk Back." It is scheduled for release in October. The first part of the program will be devoted to dramatizations of minor crises faced almost daily by typical American families. Then local panels will analyze the drama through religious concepts. Two similar Methodist series, called "The Pastor" and "The Way," already have chalked up 3,600 hours of showing time on stations throughout the country.

Treat Guests From States Differently

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — It's only 781 air miles between this capital city of Colombia and Caracas, Venezuela, but they are worlds apart in the treatment accorded U.S. citizens.

"Here there is warmth, sympathy and friendliness. In Caracas there is coolness that borders upon open hostility."

A passenger alighting here walks through two lines of smiling, blue-uniformed customs guards into the airport administration building. Passengers are informed over a loudspeaker: "You will pass through in just a moment, please, after immigration and customs formalities. While you are waiting, this is to welcome you to Colombia. Please have a cup of our fine coffee."

A white-jacketed boy immediately starts serving coffee—backbone of this nation's economy.

There's a quick look at passports and health cards and the passenger is ushered into the baggage reception room. Each passenger opens his suitcase but rarely does a customs official touch any of the contents. There's merely a glance and a smile, the traveler is on his way.

The whole process averages from 5 to 10 minutes, a far cry from what happens to the passenger—particularly a North American—who lands at Maiquetia, the airport for Venezuela's capital city of Caracas.

Soldiers and national guardsmen, wearing steel helmets, carrying rifles, pistols, or even sub-machineguns, are on guard at Maiquetia. They bunch all passengers together and lead them to the airport administration building.

Then comes the long wait—45 minutes to two hours or more—before a traveler is called to present his passport and health card.

Every passport and health card is rigidly inspected. At another desk a Venezuelan, with a soldier looking on, checks through cards in a filing cabinet, just to make sure no enemy of the state is trying to enter. After that, there's a rush by passengers for another room where 6 to 10 Venezuelans are typing out entry index cards. Here the wait can easily run into an hour.

Then, if a passenger doesn't have any Venezuelan money, he has to stand in line to wait unless he gets some.

Finally, he pushes through soldier guarded doors into the baggage room where Venezuelans take their time about locating and delivering baggage. Once suitcases are opened, the customs employees usually rummage thoroughly through contents. When this is over, a customs employee slaps a stamp on baggage but it gets another scrutiny by an armed soldier who finally clears luggage to be taken out to a taxi, or private car.

The traveler then gets his first introduction to prices in Venezuela—the highest anywhere in Latin America, and topping peak prices in the United States.

Taxi drivers take passengers in-

END OF THE LINE—Members of the Pettis-Saline District of the Lake of the Ozarks Council, Boy Scouts of America, land their canoes at Proctor, on the Lake of the Ozarks, after completing a 50-mile canoe trip last week. The boys spent five days and four nights on the trip, sleeping under the stars and using dehydrated rations as the main food supply. to Caracas—12 miles away—for the equivalent of 10 or 12 U. S. dollars. But if the driver believes you are a North American the price shoots up to $15.

Rarely does any Venezuelan give an American a smile, or say "thank you" when he is tipped. The American usually receives hostile stares or studied indifference.

Americans, other foreigners, and Venezuelans not only have to get exit visas to leave, but they don't owe any income taxes or any debts.

All this is in marked contrast to what happens in Colombia. Whenever you want to leave this country, all you have to do is to buy a plane or ship ticket, and have a visa for wherever you are going.

Here there's a smile from hotel employees, Colombians on the street, and an eagerness to be helpful and understanding. And Colombians say "thank you."

Venezuelans, joined Communist-inspired mobs which spat upon and stoned U. S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his wife during their good will visit in Caracas May 13.

Venezuelans feel, too, that their lush prosperity, born out of U. S. and British-Dutch firms developing the gigantic oil deposits, should not be impaired because the United States has restricted imports of oil from Venezuela.

There were minor anti-American demonstrations in Bogota, too, when the Nixons came, but there was no stone throwing or spitting upon the nation's guests.

WARNING!

Signatures are being solicited in this community for a petition to place a limited branch banking proposal on the ballot in the November election.

In the opinion of your hometown banks, and of the vast majority of the members of the Missouri Bankers Association, this proposition is vicious in the extreme. It can only lead to eventual extinction of local independent banks, and the control of all money and credit by huge syndicates in distant cities.

We strongly urge our friends and customers to refuse to sign these petitions, or if they have already done so, to seek to have their names removed. The public interest demands the defeat of this attempt by a small selfish group to legalize branch, or chain, banking in Missouri.

Former Sedalian Travels Far For Education

A picture of Ralph McKelvey, son of Mrs. G. W. McKelvey, 905 West Fifth, and a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Behrens, 605 West Fifth, appeared in the Cleveland Press Thursday, June 5, along with a story by Jack Warfel.

The story is about his commuting for the past four years between Louisville, O., and Case campus at Cleveland for his master's degree in mechanical engineering.

The persistent scholar is a project engineer at the Timken Roller Bearing's Canton plant.

Attending classes twice weekly since 1954, he has worn out one car making the 130-mile round trip and added more than 40,000 miles to his speedometer.

"Leaving the Canton plant at 3 p.m., I'd finish Case studies and get back to Louisville sometimes as late as 1 a.m. next day," he said.

"It's all been well worth it. Most difficult time I had getting to campus was during last year's Cleveland blizzard. During the four-year trek I had only one flat tire."

Case administrators commended McKelvey for not having missed a single night of class attendance.

Ralph, who is 31 years old, is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and the Rolla School of Mines. His wife is the former Margie Behrens, and they have two sons, Johnny, nine, and Bobby, five.

Home Contests Give Judges The Jitters

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

If a wave of nervous breakdowns develops among fashion designers and editors soon, the reason may be the growing responsibility of judging the numerous home sewing and student design contests, which pay off in astronomical figures.

Nowadays the best ways for a woman to get rich quick are to go on a television quiz program or enter a baking or sewing contest—and as the prizes grow bigger, so does the nervousness of the judges.

Hannah Troy, New York dress designer who acted as a judge in the recent $125,000 Sew-Off, was practically in a state of collapse as she congratulated the grand prize winner, Mrs. Paul Edward Bell, of Lakewood, Ohio.

"I didn't sleep a wink all night," confided Mrs. Troy afterward. "Just imagine, having to pick one contestant to win all that money! I think it's harder on the judges than the contestants."

I could sympathize. A few days before, I had been one of three judges of a "Young Homemaker" sewing contest, which paid off with a $5,000 first prize.

Faced with racks of dresses, suits and coats which had won regional contests before being sent to New York, all three of us had an attack of stage fright. What if we were influenced by personal taste? What if we overlooked some important detail? The other two judges were Miss Eloise Johnson, of Chicago, home economist and sewing expert, and Miss Virginia Steele, an editor of Mademoiselle magazine.

Before us were score cards. Each outfit was graded on fashion, suitability of fabric, trimmings, finish, sewing technique and suitability to the wearer. So many points for this, so many for that. We worked harder than any college freshman on a final exam.

When all the score cards were compared, we found the job was simpler than we had thought. All three came out with almost identical ratings. But it had been a gruelling day.

Final rating for the four places awaited arrival of the contestants in New York, when we could see the clothes actually worn by their makers.

We were exhausted, but content. We knew no detail had escaped us.

Women planning to enter sewing contests in the future may take heart from this—the judges work just as hard as the contestants, and maybe suffer more.

Moberly Will Be Site For Balloon Send-Up

MOBERLY (AP) — A huge balloon will be sent up here this month as an experiment in cosmic ray research. The tentative launching date is June 26.

Cooperating in the venture are scientists from the Office of Naval Research, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the universities of Iowa and Minnesota. Dr. Frank McDonald of Iowa University said the balloon is expected to reach 118,000 feet and will be 200 feet in diameter.

He said this area was chosen for the launching because the earth's magnetic field has a strong effect at this latitude and the area is outside commercial air lanes.

Matter of FACT

Football was "born" by accident in 1823. A Rugby student, William Webb Ellis, while playing a game similar to today's soccer, suddenly caught the ball and ran up the field with it instead of kicking the ball in the prescribed manner. Ellis was criticized and his captain apologized to the opposing captain, but that illegal maneuver marked the birth of modern football.

Summer Students Do Much Commuting

Four out of every ten of the 1515 students enrolled for summer school at Central Missouri State College are commuting. Commuters total 664 students with 187 driving in to class daily from Kansas City and environs.

Housing figures show that 139 permanent residents of Johnson County are now in summer school. Warrensburg residents total 67 with 72 others from outlying Johnson County. Largest group of commuters outside of Kansas City is the 71 who make the daily 60 mile round trip from Sedalia. Other areas from which large numbers of commuters come daily are Independence, 43; Clinton, 25; Higginsville, 24; Windsor, 14.

There are 326 summer students renting rooms in private homes in Warrensburg; 190 students live in dormitories. In addition there are 220 married students living in private apartments.

Few New TV Shows To Be Rescheduled

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Bachelor Father" is a happy survivor of the wreckage from one of the biggest season turnovers in TV history.

Seldom have there been as many casualties among TV shows. "Bachelor Father," which alternates with Jack Benny on CBS Sunday nights, is one of the few new shows to be renewed for next season.

The star, John Forsythe, offered this explanation: "I think we've been pretty lucky in drawing a fine line on a family show. We don't go as far in comedy as 'I Love Lucy' and we're not as sentimental as 'Father Knows Best' or the 'Danny Thomas Show'."

"And I think we've got a good cast. Sammee Tong is a great character; he's not an actor, but he has a way of making any line seem funny. The girl, Noreen Corcoran, was a good choice because she's natural and not precocious."

"As for myself, there's one quality I've seemed to retain throughout my career. People seem to be able to identify themselves with me. That's an asset for a TV show."

Forsythe, handsome veteran of stage ("Teahouse of the August Moon") and screen ("The Ambassador's Daughter"), keeps a close eye on production, down to and including the laugh track.

Many a comedy show has been ruined by boisterous laughter on the sound track when the humor seems mild to the home audience. Bachelor Father gets its laughter from packs of tourists who bus through the Republic lot daily. They view the half-hour comedy and react accordingly.

"But then we edit the laughs to build them up or tone them down," Forsythe explained. "Most

While there they visited Wake Forest and Chapel Hill, after which they went to Washington, D.C., and took a guided tour to some of the historical places of national interest.

4-H Tractor Skilled Operators Event

A new event is being added in Pettis County this summer. A county 4-H Tractor Skilled Operators contest has been set for July 26 at the State Fair Grounds.

This event will be open to the 4-H members who are enrolled in the Tractor Maintenance project. There will be 3 parts to the contest as follows: (1) Docking a wagon, (2) Belting a Tractor, and (3) Driving pen.

There will be two age divisions, 14 and over and under 14. Ribbons and prizes will be awarded. The winner of the older age group will have the opportunity to participate in the State Event.

4-H Litterbug Pick Up

The county 4-H "Litterbug Pick Up" has been set for Aug. 8. Each 4-H Club has been asked to bring one truck load (equivalent to a pick up truck with stock racks). It has been planned that the work be done by 11:30 a.m. in time to attend a picnic at noon that each Extension Club is planning for the 4-H Club in their area.

The litter will be piled in a neat pile on 16th Street near the entrance of the Fair Grounds.

The reason for the large pile of litter is to acquaint the thousands of people that come to the State Fair this year with the idea that throwing out litter along the roadside just isn't good business.

Each 4-H Club has been asked to furnish one truck again after the Fair is over on Aug. 26 to haul the litter away. Any one who can furnish power loaders please contact the Extension Office soon.

The clubs are to pick up the litter along roads in their area (not highways or main traveled roads). All safety precautions should be used. A red flag should be placed on each truck with a flag man in both the front and rear of the group picking up the litter.

Confidence In Economy Is Expanding

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)— Confidence is rising today that the basic soundness of the economy is winning the fight against the forces of recession.

Upturns in some industries this month and the official figures on May showing gains in many sectors of the economy are helping dispel the gloom.

At the same time, however, more soothsayers are stretching out their time tables when guessing the date of a general upturn. What they see just ahead is a long stalemate.

With employment and personal incomes gaining in May over April, with 64 million Americans having jobs and total wages and salaries increasing for the first time since the slump began, with retail sales rising from their March lows, some are asking now: "Where is the recession?"

The same official figures give the answer. Total employment went up in May. But employment in manufacturing plants continued to slide, off 67,000 from April. Total wages and salaries rose by 700 million dollars at an annual rate. But in the manufacturing sector of the economy the long downturn continued, off 100 million dollars at an annual rate.

That is where the recession is. Manufacturing is where the recession has concentrated.

But the over-all picture is a bit brighter today. And the May and June figures are allaying the fears of many. The usual summer slump in industry soon upon us may dampen some of this new enthusiasm.

And the forecasters take this into account in abandoning the first-of-the-year view that the upturn could start in July. Now most of them are saying it can't come before the end of the year and maybe not until 1959 is well along.

That's because they feel that while continued consumer buying of soft goods and of services is cushioning and to a major extent offsetting the fall in industry, no real upturn can be expected until manufacturing of durables and ordering of new plants and equipment by business is on the upgrade again and whittling of inventories comes to a full stop.

Water Co.

(Continued From Page One) will affect primarily three firms, the manager said—Missouri Public Service Co., Pittsburgh—Corning and the Missouri Pacific shops. Even so, he said, their charges will be far below what it would be in other cities in Missouri which have publicly-owned water departments.

As an example, he said, the bill for one firm last year, which ended this past March 31, was approximately $7,000. In Independence, it would have been approximately $17,600 and in Jefferson City it would have been approximately $15,000. That firm's average rate last month, with the increase in effect, was slightly above 15 cents, which is a very reasonable one, Reed said.

One of the other firm's consumption topped four million gallons a month last year during only four months, in one month by 91,000 gallons, in another by 100,000, in another by 168,000 and in the fourth by only 36,000. He estimated that the increase in rates for the shops for the total amount would come to approximately $46.

He said the third firm topped the four-million-gallon mark during seven months of the last year—slightly in each case, and he said that the consumption is expected to be less this year, so that the increased rate will not make much difference.

Where does the money go?

REVIEWING FAMILY BUDGETS, pleasant or not, is a task every family has to face at some time. And every business, too. In a way, company finances are a lot like personal financial problems.

You are welcome to a copy of our 32-page 1957 Annual Report. Just write to Standard Oil Company, 910 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago 80, Ill.

- 1. Things we bought and used... 59.5%
Most of the money we took in went for things we had to buy, such as crude oil, materials and services, plus charges made for wear and tear. These costs are roughly comparable to your living expenses. We buy everything from paper clips to structural steel from more than 32,000 independent companies in hundreds of American communities. While our costs have skyrocketed in the past few years, prices of oil products have gone up only slightly in the same period!
- 2. Taxes paid... 18.7%
Our next biggest item—even bigger than our payroll—was for taxes, including our own taxes, and those we collect from our customers for national, state and local governments. All together this totaled $447,048,487. And that figure does not include the many "hidden" taxes everyone pays!
- 3. Wages, salaries, benefits... 15.5%
Then there were wages, salaries and benefits for our 49,680 employees. Standard Oil employees enjoy one of the most progressive benefit programs in any industry. Back in 1903, when retirement plans were virtually unheard of in industry, Standard Oil started its retirement plan. It was among the first industrial companies in America to do this.
- 4. Profits used for improvement... 4.0%
After all costs of doing business were taken care of, 6.3% was left. This is profit. We used part of this, or 4.0% of our total income, to expand facilities and to improve our products and services for the millions of people who depend on us for petroleum products.
- 5. Profits paid to owners... 2.3%
The balance, or 2.3%, went as dividends to our 148,400 shareholder-owners. Standard Oil has paid dividends for 64 consecutive years. The value of dividends paid in 1957, including a special fourth quarter dividend, was $2.11 per share. We try to pay share owners a dividend equal in value to approximately half of earnings each year, reinvesting the remainder for future growth in the interest of shareholders, employees and the public.
- 6. And that's where our money went!
All the money we took in has been accounted for. At our service stations, our plans and investments face the final test, for our millions of customers are the bosses. Through our subsidiaries, we serve all America. Our products are sold in 48 states.

What makes a company a good citizen? To be a good citizen a business must be frank and open—with employees, stockholders, customers, the public. In advertisements like this during the year, we at Standard Oil publish reports to our neighbors so you will know how we work, something about our Standard Oil family, where our money goes, and the part we play in the prosperity of the communities in which we live and work.

Tommy Bolt Captures National Open Title

Player Falls Under Streak Of Birdies

Littler Challenges Late, But Bolt Finishes With 283

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Tommy Bolt, a tough ex-Army sergeant and man of alternating peace and violent emotions, won the 58th National Open Golf Championship with a remarkable self and shot control. He shot rounds of 69 and 72 for a 72-hole score of 283.

The jut-jawed Southwesterner, 39, born in Oklahoma and reared in Louisiana, crushed the hopes of South Africa's young Gary Player with a staggering streak of birdies in the morning and then snuffed out the late coming challenge of Gene Littler.

Player, the 22-year-old precisionist from Johannesburg, finished four strokes back of the new champion with rounds of 73 and 71 for 287.

Player in second place was followed by Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N. C., who had final rounds of 72-71 for 289. Littler took a final 76 for 290 and fourth place. Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Mich., and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, tied at 291.

The defending champion, Dick Mayer, closed with a 78 and a score of 299 which put him well down the list.

Other bids faded one by one through a day of 100-degree temperatures. But Southern Hills' 6,907-yard, par 70 course played easier than the first two days and there were six scorers under par, including a 68 by Don January of Eastland, Tex.

Ben Hogan, seeking a record fifth Open victory with an aching left wrist, fell out of contention early and was followed by Frank Stranahan, Julius Boros, Charles Coe and Labron Harris, who were in pressing position entering the final day.

Jimmy Demaret, playing in his 15th Open, found conditions so tough he withdrew after shooting an 81 in the morning round.

Bolt led each of the four rounds, becoming the first since Hogan at Oakmont in 1953 to make every hole a winning one.

The man who has been called "the Terrible Tempered Mister Bolt" and who has accused galleries of being against him, got a tremendous ovation from the wall of people around him when he sank a four-foot putt for his par on the final hole. The crowd was estimated at close to 20,000.

Tommy doffed his brown straw hat and waved gaily to the crowd. He chattered away with newsmen as he strode to the clubhouse where an $8,000 first-prize check awaited him.

Wightman Cup to England

Althea Gibson Loses To British Girl, 17

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Christine Truman, a 17-year-old Amazonian schoolgirl, overpowered tennis queen Althea Gibson in a startling upset Saturday as Britain smashed America's 28-year hold on the Wightman Cup, four matches to three.

The honor of clinching Britain's first cup championship since 1930 went to Ann Haydon, who scored her country's fourth point in the next-to-last match of the seven-match, two-day competition with a 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 singles victory over Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif.

The United States got its last point in a meaningless, concluding doubles match as Miss Gibson and Janet Hoppes of Seattle defeated Ann Shillecock and Pat Ward, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

But the six-foot, 170-pound Miss Truman, who swept both her singles assignments and shared in a third point in doubles, triggered the upset.

Following up her brilliant play in Friday's opening program, Miss Truman shrugged off a first set loss and simply overwhelmed Miss Gibson—the defending Wimbledon and U. S. champion—2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Her victory came at the crucial point in the series. Veteran Dorothy Head Knobe of Forest Hills, N. Y., had moments before squared the competition at 2-2 with a surprise triumph over Shirley Bloomer in the opening singles.

Christine's shocker made it 3-2 for Britain and Miss Haydon, only 19 and better known as a table tennis star, took it from there for the clincher in a raggedly-played match with Miss Arnold.

Even the clinching victory was an anticlimax for the crowd of 5,000, which roared throughout the thrilling Truman-Gibson duel.

Althea, who scored America's only first day point with a 6-3, 6-4 decision over Miss Bloomer, swept through the first set Saturday with hardly any effort. In the second set, Miss Truman abandoned the baseline tactics that worked so well in her singles and doubles matches Friday and began rushing the net.

She broke Miss Gibson's service in the second game, held her own in the first and third, and leading 3-0, had the tall, gangling ace from New York's Harlem on the defensive.

In the third set, Christine broke Althea's service in the fifth game for a 3-2 lead but lost her serve in the sixth. Tied at 4-4, the powerful English girl scored the key break in the ninth game, then beat Miss Gibson with a sizzling passing shot in the tenth after double faulting at her first match point.

Sorrels Without Sewer Gas Special

Three Top CMRA Racers Will Return to T-Bowl Wednesday

Lead-footed Walter Sorrels, the hottest driver in the Central Missouri Racing Association for the past month, is slated to return to Sedalia's Thunderbowl Speedway for Wednesday night's card—but he won't be driving D-7, the Sewer Gas Special.

Sorrels was pacing the field in the trophy dash at the Thunderbowl last week and on the back stretch of the final lap a rod came apart, sending flying metal through the block, the pan, and scarring the crankshaft and camshaft. With the power plant of his 1957 Pontiac in bad shape he was still able to coast past the finish line in second place.

Owners of D-7, Marvin Reeder and Dean Hathman of Columbia said they will try to replace the car in running order again in two weeks. They have ordered parts from California to replace the broken piston and rod.

In the meantime, Sorrels—the victim of an almost continuous jinx on Sedalia tracks—will pilot 5W, the Joe Woods Chevrolet from Versailles.

Ken Taylor, last week's winner and the first two time winner at the Thunderbowl, and Torchy Alshire, the Moberly speed merchant who finished a close second Wednesday night, will be other top names on this week's racing program.

In discussing this week's program, co-owners of the track Dan Doty, Jr., and Ken Emery said the Thunderbowl oval should be in the peak condition. The track, probably the best quarter-mile dirt oval in the state with its smooth, high banks, needed the rain which fell Friday and Saturday. Grounds keepers put over 15,000 gallons of water on the track in preparing for last week's race, but due to the extreme dryness even that effort wasn't sufficient.

T&C Girls Will Play Today if Grounds Can Be Put Into Condition

Providing the grounds can be whipped into shape, the Town and Country Girls softball team will play a doubleheader at the Center Park today against Springfield. Center Park, built on a slight slope, is the only park in Sedalia that possibly could be readied for game conditions.

The Town and Country team opened the season last week against Lexington's Ladies and scored an easy 15-4 triumph.

The first game of today's twin-bill is set for 4:30 p. m. and the second contest, to be played under the lights, at 7 p. m. Cathy Elwell is slated to hurl the opener the locals and Earlene Walz will probably be on the hill for the second game with Betty Phillips behind the plate.

The Town and Country team is now managed by Ray "Buddy" Homan who replaced Vint Siegel. Siegel is managing Sedalia's leading semi-pro club, the Athletics.

Von McDaniel to Report To Winston-Salem

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Von McDaniel, 19-year-old pitching whiz with the St. Louis Cards last season, will join the Winston-Salem Redbirds of the Class B Carolina League this week.

McDaniel, who received a $50,000 bonus to sign with the Cards right out of high school, won seven and lost five with St. Louis last season.

The 6-3, Hollis, Okla., farm boy was sent to Houston of the Class AA Texas League last month to correct what Redbird Manager Fred Hutchinson called a hitch in his pitching delivery. He had a 1-3 record at Houston.

farm club, officials hope McDaniel will lick his problem. His brother Lindy is with the Cardinals.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

OFT times a good project finds itself on a shelf, becoming dust covered because some member of a board overlooks passing the idea on to the other members. As a result good things often are lost and those who offered the suggestion wonder why nothing ever comes of it.

Recently I had a visit with some square dancers and discussed the use of Convention Hall at Liberty Park. They frowned upon the idea because the acoustics of the hall are such that the caller can not be heard due to the "bounce" of the sound.

One thing led to another and out of a clear sky came the remark that the Square Dancing Clubs had offered to have the hall enclosed with an acoustic ceiling. Nothing ever came of it. I understand they would go ahead with the project and pay it off with free rent until the bill has been balanced.

It was a case, as I see it, where an offer was made and then unintentionally overlooked.

Certainly Convention Hall is a fine building, but we must take in consideration it is well over 40 years old. Attention was not paid too much to the building during its early life and as a result became run down. Park Board after Park Board in recent years have always included a sum to be spent on it and the building has been gradually brought back into fair condition.

But at present, instead of spending dribbles of money, I suggest that the city fathers appropriate a goodly sum and do an A-1 job and have it done with. The porch has settled, some of the inner walls have started settling. With the expenditure of somewhere in the neighborhood of $15,000 to $20,000 it would give Sedalia an excellent meeting place and recreational facility.

The heating plant has been rebuilt and a new gas furnace installed, providing an excellent heating plant. The exterior was cleaned and redecorated by the park employees and it's neat and clean, but we still have the bad situation of big things to be done: saving the foundations, the concrete porch, the walls and putting in the ceiling. This type of work is beyond the realm of park employees and would be a major contractors job.

Getting back to projects being forgotten, if those who have them would attend the Park Board meetings and tell all the members of the project, there is a likely chance it would snowball and become a reality. Not only the Park Board, but the other Boards and Commissions

Sedalia A's Next Home Game Tuesday

The Sedalia Athletics next home game will be Tuesday night at Liberty Park when they face Dutch Fisher's Buford Surveyors, formerly known as Fiddlers. Fisher's club has won the Jayhawk League, best in metropolitan Kansas City, for four consecutive years. Two years ago when his team met the Athletics, the teams split a two game series.

Ray Estes, a member of the Athletics mound staff last season, is slated to pitch against his ex-teammates.

Illinois Lass Wins Trans-Miss Golf Tournament

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., won the Trans-Mississippi Women's Golf Tournament Saturday, defeating Andrea Cohn, Waterloo, Iowa, 8-and-6 on the 36th hole of the 36-hole final round.

The Illinois golfer, runner-up in 1949 and champion in 1950, won her second Trans-Miss crown without pressure. She had the Iowa State women's champion 3-down at the end of Saturday's first 18 and with this edge quickly wrapped up the match on the second outing.

Miss Lindsay scored 36 and 39 in the morning rounds for a 3-over-par 75.

In the final 18, the Illinois champion scored 37, or one-over-par, on the front nine and was even par when the match ended on the 36th hole.

It was the ninth Trans-Mississippi tournament for Miss Lindsay. In the consolation championship final match, Judy Bell, Wichita, beat Jackie Dack, Wichita, 5-and-4.

Green, Boyer Homer as Rain Shortens Game

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ken Boyer and Gene Green slammed consecutive fourth-inning home runs off Milwaukee's Warren Spahn Saturday for a 2-1 St. Louis victory over the league-leaders in a rain-abbreviated contest.

Larry Jackson, now 5-2, outlasted the veteran Spahn in a pitching duel. Spahn came away with his third loss against eight victories.

Singles by Frank Torre, Johnny Logan, a sacrifice and an intentional pass to Del Crandall soaked the sacks with only one out when the rains came in the seventh inning ending the game.

Boston Sews Game Up Early On Ted's Homer

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams crashed his first homer in nearly three weeks and No. 7 of the season Saturday as the Boston Red Sox belted the Kansas City A's 7-1.

Williams picked on the first delivery of relief hurler Tom Gorman and sent a towering drive some 20 rows into the right field stands scoring two runners ahead of him.

The 39-year-old slugger's blast capped a four-run rally in the second inning which enabled Boston's Frank Sullivan to coast to his fourth victory in five decisions.

Sullivan settled down after a shaky start for a six hitter. He didn't allow a hit after the fourth inning but was given tremendous support in the field.

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Bolling looped a Ryne Duren fast ball into center for a two-run single with two out in the ninth Saturday as Detroit rallied for a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

All the drama of this one was packed into the last two innings as the Yankees first took the lead 4-3 on Yogi Berra's three-run homer in the eighth, then watched Duren—their rookie relief ace—blow one for the first time since the opening week of the season.

Glenn Davis Smashes World Mark in 440

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State's versatile speedster Glenn Davis cracked the world record in the 440-yard dash and Irish star Ron Delany of Villanova scored a smashing double in the 380 and mile Saturday at the 37th annual NCAA track and field meet.

Tempe, Arizona State's Alex Henderson from Sydney, Australia, also bettered his own American two-mile record while six of the 14 NCAA meet records fell.

Davis also holds the world record for the 400-meter hurdles, set at 49.5 in Los Angeles, July 29, 1956.

Davis, who won the Olympic 400-meter hurdles, flashed ahead of Eddie Southern of Texas to win the quarter-mile in 45.7 seconds, one-tenth better than the world mark set by Jim Lea of the Air Force in 1956 and tied by Davis in the Big Ten meet this spring. Ireland's Delany, who won the Olympic 1500-meter gold medal, scored brilliant come-from-behind victories in his two races. In the mile he set a new NCAA record of 4:03.5, bettering the 4:03.7 of Wes Santee of Kansas in 1953.

An hour later he surged from last in a field of nine half-milers to win in 1:48.6.

The crowd of 16,000 at the University of California's Edwards Field saw NCAA standards lowered in the 220-yard dash around a turn, the 220-yard low hurdles around a turn and the javelin throw. Sunny weather with little wind prevailed.

Ed Collymore, Villanova, took the 220 in 20.7, a tenth faster than the NCAA record established Friday by Ohio University's Les Carney, who didn't place Saturday.

Charlie Tidwell of Kansas turned the lo whurldes in 22.7, the fastest time ever registered for the race around a curve. It broke the old NCAA record of 23 flat by Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace in 1946.

John Fromm of Pacific Lutheran College at Tacoma, Wash., bettered his javelin record of 248 feet, 1 inch, as he won with 257-1.

Southern California, banned from last year's meet because of illegal aid to athletes penalties, came back to capture its 20th team title.

The Trojans compiled 48 6-7 points to 40% for runnerup Kansas and 33% for defending champion Villanova. San Jose State had 20 3-7, Winston-Salem Teachers 20, Illinois 17% and Ohio State 17.

Six Baseball Teams Organized At Knob Noster

Six baseball teams which will provide diamond activity for boys 18-years-old and younger have been organized in Knob Noster for the summer months.

The Gregory-Zink Post is fielding an American Junior Legion nine, managed by Richard Zink and coached by Charles Miller. The club has already posted two wins, topping Pleasant Hill, 2-0, and Holden, 4-3. Boys 15 through 18 are members of the Legion team.

The Tri-County Baseball League, for boys 12 through 15, includes teams from Leeton, Knob Noster, Green Ridge, Chilhowee, Whiteman Air Force Base, Calhoun and Windsor. The Knob Noster club, co-managed by Don Helms and James E. Jageman, blasted Leeton, 19-7, in its opening game. League teams play every Friday night, with the exception of July 4. Virgil Oglvie of Green Ridge is league president and William Wallace of Leeton is the secretary.

The eight to 12 year old boys are participating in a four team loop, playing on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the school grounds. The teams are the Cubs, Lions, Tigers and Bears. Bob Carr is the commissioner for this league.

A softball team has been organized for girls ranging from the fourth grade to the eighth grade. At the first practice at the school 34 players reported and were divided into two teams. Mrs. E. O. Price and Mrs. Wells H. Thompson

Penny Banner

Red McIntyre

Ladies, Gents Will Team Up Here Tuesday

Otto von Krupp, the powerful German Oak, joins forces with Penny Banner at the armory Tuesday night to combat the team of Flying Joe Scarpa and Judy Glover. This mixed tag match has created a lot of interest in wrestling circles and the novelty of a boy and a girl teaming up should provide a lot of torrid action.

The rules demand that when a team partner makes a tag, both teams automatically switch, so there are always either two girls in the ring at one time or two boys. The von Krupp-Penny Banner team will have the edge in rough and ready tactics, but Flying Joe Scarpa and his pretty partner Judy Glover have the odds in their favor when it comes to speed and cleverness. The match will be a one hour time limit and be for the best two out of three falls.

Red McIntyre returns to the local scene after a more than successful tour of the southwest and will see action against popular Thor Hagen in the semifianal match. McIntyre has become one of the more rugged type wrestlers since his invasion of the southwest and his actions in the ring make him anything but a favorite in matches against men like Thor Hagen, who try to follow the rules to the letter. Both McIntyre and Hagen hope for future main events and a win for either will put them on top of the heap in this two out of three fall match that has a 45 minute time limit.

A girl's one fall match opens the all-star show and favorite Laura Martinez runs into some tough opposition when she meets veteran Kathy Starr in the 30 minute time limit preliminary.

Popular prices are in effect and doors at the armory will open at 7:15 p.m. with matches starting at 8:30 p.m. For a choice selection of seats, the Midway Shoe Repair Shop and the Pacific Cafe handle advance sales.

have been appointed by the PTA to direct summer recreation for girls. Mrs. A. F. Quattlebaum is acting as coach. The girls will play at 4:30 p. m. on Mondays.

Helps Make Top Double Play Combination

Bobby Case Sparkles in Class A Baseball at Colorado Springs

Folks out in Colorado Springs are being convinced that good things really do come in small packages—so to speak. Five-foot, five-inch Bobby Case, the pride of Sedalia, is providing the proof with his sparkling fielding and strong hitting as the Sky Sox second sacker.

Bob was the subject of a feature story written by Sturdy Pexton, sports editor of the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph, this week. Pexton's article reads as follows:

"Andy Skurski, Sky Sox general manager, is a cautious man. But one day earlier in the week he raised himself from his desk and offered this appraisal:

"All things considered, I think you have to say Pro and Casey are the best double play combination in the league."

"Skurski spoke of shortstop Don Prohovich and second baseman Bobby Case, the Sky Sox mutt-n-Jeff keystone combo that has helped carry the Colorado Springs Western League (Class A) entry into first place vicinity.

"By 'all things considered,' Skurski meant hitting and fielding and the Sky Sox GM isn't off base on his assumption. The Prohovich-Case parlay has been productive both with the glove and with the bat.

"Heading into Saturday night's game, the Sky Sox had pulled 35 double plays with Prohovich in 26 of them and Case, who missed a few early season games, being involved in 18 of the twin killings.

"With the bat Case, whose only home run was a grand slammer off Lincoln, is hitting .319.

"Both Case, 21, and Prohovich, 22, although just playing Class A baseball, are moving well up baseball's ladder considering Colorado Springs ranks as the second highest farm in the shallow White Sox system.

"Case played his first season of professional baseball last year, working under the present Colorado Springs manager, Frank Scalzi, at Davenport in the Three-I League. The Sedalia, Mo., boy was signed by Pat Monahan as a shortstop, but the ChiSox scout advised him he would be switched to second base where he has progressed amazingly in one year.

"No second baseman in the league turns the pivot as well as 'Casey,' who admits he prefers second base because of the shorter throw. In his first year Case hit .285 for 106 games (he was out for awhile with a shoulder injury) and stole 11 bases.

"Case is one of the faster players in the league, but strangely was not a sprinter, but a hurdler in high school track.

"Twice this season the Sky Sox have pulled off four double plays and on both occasions the good support came against pennant contending Lincoln. Just Thursday night Case tied a Western League record by being in on four double plays as the Sky Sox nudged Lincoln, 6-3. Case handed 14 changes, one shy of the nine-inning record, without an error that night.

"Both members of the Sky Sox keystone combination have their problems. Prohovich wants to cut down his strikeouts (one night he fanned four times) and Case wants to regain his touch of hitting to the opposite field.

"Manager Scalzi, who was the man who actually switched Case to second, credits Prohovich with helping his second baseman.

"Says Scalzi, 'They didn't even know each other until opening day and now they're the best second base combination in the league. Prohovich is always talking with Case and helping him on all the little things that are so important.

"I think Case has a good chance of going all the way because of the way he has improved from last year to this."

"So, the boys are learning. But,

Big Tides and Small Crowds

Rain, Spectators a Problem For Athletics and Chiefs

Donkey baseball enjoyed a brief success as it grabbed the fancy of fans in this area some ten years ago, but with that faded it appears that a new gimmick is needed to lure Sedalians into the rather empty grandstand at Liberty Park. If the weatherman would kindly continue to supply the abundance of water that has blessed the good earth hereabout for the past two days, perhaps the attendance problem could be whipped with boats.

* At any rate the Sedalia Athletics and the Ban Johnson Chiefs have been having trouble with too much water and not enough spectators. Both teams were slated for action Friday night and again today, but in each instance the games were postponed for obvious reasons.

The Athletics were all set to journey to Mexico Friday night, but just as they were leaving the point of departure Fred Jenkins, manager of the Builders, called and advised the Sedalians not to venture into Audrain County—unless they were coming with life rafts and a rescue party.

The Chiefs had a little more success. Manager Bill Arnold's crew, in a hot battle with Tipton and Holden for the championship in the Western Division of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League, got a crucial contest off the launching pad at Tipton and hurlers Clyde Kubli of Sedalia and Bill Reed of Tipton both seemed to be in orbit as each had fanned four in the first two innings. Then the rains came and the two missiles which are trailing Holden tailed off for cover in the shelter house.

The Athletics, scheduled to meet Columbia, and the Chiefs, slated to take on Tipton in games today, decided to cancel operations. Unless a change is made in operational schedule, the Chiefs won't play again until Thursday night when the undefeated Holden Jays, managed by Stub Roberts, come to town in a game which could decide as they're acclimating themselves to the problems of the keystone, at the same time they're becoming as well known here as the comic strip characters they resemble—in addition to doing their bit in the Sox first pennant drive in three years."

Case attends Central Missouri State College in Warrensburg during the off season. He is single.

Bob's mother, Mrs. Daisy H. Case, 309 East Second, said Saturday, "I think Bob is doing fine." Mrs. Case is naturally proud of her hard working, baseball playing youngster and his performance has justified that prouddness.

Mrs. Case said she planned to travel to Lincoln, Nebr., to see Bob in action next Sunday.

Cardinals Buy Sal Maglie, 41, From Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—Sal Maglie, 41-year-old right-hander, Saturday was sold by the New York Yankees to the St. Louis Cardinals. The sale price was not disclosed.

Maglie, purchased by New York from the then Brooklyn Dodgers last Sept. 1 had a 1-1 record this year for seven appearances and a 4.70 earned run average. He had started only three games and worked in relief in four others for a total of 22 1-3 innings.

Last year, the crafty curve-baller was 2-0 with New York after posting a 6-6 record with the Dodgers. Because of his late purchase, he was ineligible for the 1957 World Series against Milwaukee.

Maglie, who helped pitch the New York Giants to National League pennants in 1951 and 1954 and was the ace of the Dodgers' pennant-winning staff in 1956, has a lifetime major league record of 117 victories and 56 losses. His career ERA is 3.08.

Thursday night, with rain threatening, the Kiwanis majors swamped Adco 10-2 as Kiwanis hurler Straka pitched a three-hitter against Adco. Straka gave up only one walk. That, coupled with two errors and three hits, gave Adco a total of only six base runners. Kiwanis assumed the commanding position in the first inning by capping eight runs. Adco stopped them for two more innings; then, in the last of the fourth the home club took two more runs, which was a substantial lead to call the game after Adco scored only one in the top of the fifth. Gibbs, Kiwanis third-sacker, had a perfect three-for-three night, and Nage had one for one, and one walk. Peters, Meredith, and Riley took the only hits for the Adco Club. Straka was the winning pitcher, and Meredith was the loser.

Rotary and Lions were postponed due to rain the same evening.

The first game of Friday night's Major League doubleheader at Liberty Park was completed before the rain started. The second game, Moose vs. Adco, was postponed due to rain in the last half of the first inning.

In the opening game the Elks beat Lions in a high scorer, 9-6. Losing pitcher Daugherty gave up only five hits while the winner, Johnson, allowed seven to the Lions; but the Elks were able to take full advantage of their hits and come through with nine runs. Going into the seventh Elks were trailing by one, 6-5. Then they exploded with four in their half of the seventh to clinch the victory, 9-6.

The Lions B-team apparently had great trouble with their pitching staff as they gave up no hits but allowed 11 runs on walks, passed balls, and errors, and lost to the Elks B-team by a score of 11-8. The game was played Friday night at Housel Park. Rhodes was the winning hurler for the Elks in the relief row. He gave up five hits, Dotson and Sherman just couldn't seem to get the ball across the plate as the eleven runs scored against them were due to either walks or passed balls.

The A-team game between the two clubs was postponed due to rain.

Snack a Necessary Way of Life For Today's Teenage Gourmets

By EUGENE GILBERT

What are little girls made of? "Sugar and spice and everything nice," says the old refrain. "Soda pop and candy bars," say today's teen-aged girls. And that goes for the boys, too. Our latest survey on the eating habits of Young America shows that the between meal snack is so firmly established as to be a way of life with modern youth. "Between meal eating is one of the finer things of life," Marilyn Yorick of Atlanta, Ga., told us and roughly five out of six teen-agers agree with her. Perhaps it's wrong to let a girl's comment set the pace for the snack-grabbers since the boys—less inclined to worry about waistlines—tell us they do most of the between meal eating. About four young men in five told us they are snack advocates while three out of four girls said they believe in eating between meals. What constitutes a between meal snack? To many teen-agers it's candy and soda pop. "It will come as no surprise to the soft drink industry — which gears much of its advertising to the youthful market—that one in four youngsters puts away two bottles of soda a day. And it's easy to see why many movie theaters figure their margin of profit on candy sales when, as our poll shows, about half the teen-agers consume four or more candy bars a week. Candy and pop, of course, are not the only staples of between meal diets. Milk, cookies and fruits also have a large following. And there are others: "A hamburger, french fries and a coke is the best between meal snack I can think of," said Jerry Falsmoth of Cleveland. "A malted milk with whipped cream and a peanut butter and jelly sandwich," volunteered Allan Beryan of Brooklyn. "Pizza!" enthused Winnie Dallat of New York. "How I love pizza!" A number of youngsters who admitted stoking up between table sittings also expressed qualms about it. "Of course, I believe in between meal eating," said Alice Curital of Pittsburgh, "but my figure doesn't."

"I don't really believe in it," confessed Susan Loreat of Chicago, "but I just can't help myself."

Slightly more than half the teen-agers told us they do most of their between meal eating at home. But some had good reason for snacking out. "I have to," said Al Fischer of Flushing, N.Y. "My parents complain that I'd eat them out of house and home if I didn't!" But, even while the between meal snack is becoming a meal in itself, the younger folk aren't neglecting the traditional three squares. Nine out of 10 told us they prefer what have become the standard American breakfasts—ham or bacon with eggs, pancakes or waffles and french toast. Bacon and eggs are most popular with the girls (one out of five) and ham and eggs with the boys (also one in five). Cold breakfasts just didn't rate with either. Sunday is a big eating day for Young America. Roughly three out of five teen-agers start the Sabbath with a more substantial breakfast than usual. And four out of five look forward to the big leisurely Sunday dinner at home. "I do so much running around all week," said a 17-year-old boy from Jersey City, N.Y., "that I like

Family Dinner Given Honoring the Owens

A family dinner was given Sunday, June 1, at the L. C. Thomas home, 1010 East 14th, in honor of Mrs. Tom Owen and sons, Tommy Joe and Sammy Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Moore, all of Spearville, Kan., who were visiting here the past week.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson, Kansas City; Mrs. Emma Clemons and Mrs. Edna Seymour, Pleasant Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hodges and daughters, Independence; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Merriott, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callis and family, Hughesville; Mrs. Clara Owen, Sedalia.

Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Owen and Robbie. Mrs. Owen and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Moore have returned to Spearville.

to spend Sunday just lounging around—around the icebox."

The Sunday meal also is standardized in most homes. About three youngsters in five have a favorite Sunday meal and usually get it. As a Baltimore girl told us: "I can tell it's Sunday by the roast beef on the table."

Desserts — with the homemade type preferred by nearly an 8-1 margin—are still mighty popular with the young fry, although most won't go as far as the teen-ager who chortled:

"The only reason I eat the first part of the meal is to get to the dessert and I like all desserts."

About three out of five of the young people have some favorite dessert. Generally, it's ice cream, followed by chocolate cake and pie in that order.

A Florida girl told us she liked watermelon.

"Why?" we asked. "Because I can squirt the pits around," she said.

SET FOR BLASTING — Jazzman Louis Armstrong wears pilot's helmet and life preserver at Massachusetts air base concert. He said, "Man, what a crazy way to play a trumpet."

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement with 225 guests attending.

AN EXTRA SUMMER DRESS
We look in our closets about this time of year and it appears we may have too many summer things, but in thirty days we find the fresh supply has diminished. We overlook how much we wear them in the hot sun and how often they are laundered and therefore it is important to look ahead and be prepared with an extra dress or two. Many occasions arise in July and August where you still need something in a pretty summer outfit and now is the time to prepare for it. In the more dressy things you will find voiles in both florals and solids that are beautiful. Polished cottons in sheaths, chemises and full skirts can be most outstanding if you get the proper accessories to go with them. Solid white continues to be beautiful and of course the warmer the weather the more pleasing it is—a good suntan always adds to the glamour of your pastels. Enjoy your summer clothes as they can be more refreshing and exciting than any other season, if you make them so.

Miss Catherine Anne Drake Is Bride of James L. Dent

Three pairs of tall seven-branch candelabra holding white cathedral candles and entwined with smilax and pink flowers lined the steps to the altar which was banked with baskets of pink roses combined with pink and white daisies to form the setting for the impressive wedding ceremony in which Miss Catherine Anne Drake became the bride of James LeRoy Dent. The marriage service, which took place in the First Methodist Church on Wednesday, June 4, at half after seven in the evening, was performed by Dr. Elmer L. Hobbs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Laferm Drake, 424 South Grand.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Dent, 132 Autumn. Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a wedding gown of bluish pink chiffon taffeta veiled with white tulle, fashioned with an elongated basque bodice with wide portrait neck, and long sleeves of tulle. Re-embroidered Alencon lace applique touched with sequins outlined the neckline, formed a plastron and held small gathers at the shoulder. The very bouffant skirt widened into a chapel train. A wide sash of pink taffeta, starting at the side front, under lace medallions draped over the hips and tied into a large bow and streamers low on the back. Her headdress was a cap of bluish pink silk trimmed with matching lace and sequins which held her double illusion veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Miss Charlene Ezell, and the two bridesmaids, Mrs. Dan T. Alley and Miss Rosemary Rissler, wore identical dresses of ombre silk organza shading from palest pink in the bodice to camellia rose at the hemline. The fitted bodice of each dress was designed with a wide off shoulder berth finishing with a bow at the back. The terrace length skirts were a full circle of silk organza over taffeta. Bandeaux of pale pink with a rosette at one side were worn by the bride's attendants and their slippers were a rose shade. They carried colonial bouquets of bluish carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of moss green silk organza over flowered cotton satin in shades of pink and green with a draped organza midriff and a side panel. Her accessories were moss green and pink carnations were used for her corsage.

Barbecue Chopping Block Needed by Outdoor Cooks

Roll-away cart with chopping block top is a project for the handy man who does it himself in the cook-out department, too.

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Go to work on this portable outdoor barbecue block first, and you can go to work on steaks, chops and other candidates for the grill later.

Dimensions given are "for instance." Adapt them to suit your particular needs.

Standard shop tools are all you need for the project, but a good 1/4-inch drill would save a lot of work. A sander, preferably of the double-action type, quickly gives the chopping block the smooth, smooth finish you'll value in the completed product.

Lumber you'll need: Nine pieces 2x2, each 28 inches long for the top. Better make that select hardwood, too. Handles (side pieces of frame top), two pieces 1 1/2x2 1/4 inches, each 34 inches long. Stretchers, two pieces 1 1/2x2 1/4 inches, each 10 inches long. Legs, four pieces, 2x2 inches, each 28 inches long. Shelves, two pieces, 1/2x12 inches, each 22 inches long.

Hardware you'll need: Four heavy-duty casters, eight angle irons, three metal bolt rods, one box of 1 1/2-inch No. 10 flathead wood screws.

Cut stock to lengths indicated. Assemble stretchers and handle (side) pieces with nails and glue, using plain butt joints.

Drill and countersink legs from the inside for attaching the framework of stretchers and handle pieces.

Notch shelves to accommodate legs and attach to glued-and-nail.

Closets More Than Hidey-Holes For Storing Cleaning Equipment

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Spring cleaning can turn up several weak spots in housekeeping, not the least of which is the sad state of affairs in the broom closet.

A closet that's orderly, equipped with cleaning tools in good repair, and stocked efficiently without being overloaded is a rarity.

Home planners often overlook the need for planned storage of this type. Cleaning equipment is relegated to hooks on the back of the basement door or it's shoved into a corner on the back porch.

Another difficulty is that homemakers, myself included, tend to hang on to their mops, brooms, dusters and buckets long after they should be junked.

Equipment of this kind isn't expensive and it's not intended to last a lifetime.

A dingy mop that shows the scars of long usage or a broom with broken fibers can't do a good clean-up job and will make a drab task seem even more of a chore.

The first step toward a more efficient cleaning department is a businesslike survey of equipment.

Bright, new dust mops with spin-around heads of dacron fibers, thicker, thirstier sponge mops, fluffy nylon dusters in pretty colors such as pink, citron, geranium red, blue and green are gay and practical replacements for worn-out items.

Molded plastic buckets in various sizes and equally bright colors are light in weight, easy to clean and a cheerful change from old, rusty buckets.

Don't overstock your closet with equipment; resolve to keep only what you really use every week.

As for where to store cleaning equipment, some of the brightest ideas I've seen originate with Stanford Squire, a talented designer, who built efficient and handsome storage centers for the O'Carroll Home Service Institute.

One that I particularly like is an outdoor storage center to be placed next to the kitchen door. This might be duplicated in a breezeway, or it could stand by itself.

A white latticed roof and a terra cotta tile floor creates a setting for the miniature patio. The cabinet enclosures are made of mellow cedar and translucent plastic.

In addition to space for brooms and mops, there are compartments for newspapers, firewood, garden tools and refuse cans, all placed behind a facade of weathered, accordion-hung planks.

In another design, suggested for the upstairs hall, storage space is built on each side of the bedroom doorway.

On one side is a closet lined with perforated hardboard on which hangs the equipment needed for bedroom and bath cleaning.

On the other side of the unit is a closet for linens and a cedar-lined compartment for winter woools.

The mops and dusters in pinks and reds against the white of the closet were selected to blend with the pink, red and white color scheme of the hall.

In another dramatic idea for an entry hall, Squire made a folding paneled wall, alternating walnut brass.

This conceals a sectional closet for luggage, coats, cleaning tools and odds and ends.

It could be taken off the ceiling track and used in another location as a screen or divider.

Thompson, US Envoy To Russia, Soft-Voiced Dynamo

By JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One of the key U. S. figures involved in the ticklish business of maintaining peace with the Russians is a quiet unassuming gentleman who looks more like a poet than a diplomat.

That's how friends describe U.S. Ambassador to Russia Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., whose diplomatic ability is expected to receive world-wide attention if a conference between the United States and Russia should take place in Moscow.

The 53-year-old sandy-haired ambassador impresses everyone with his shyness, unlimited patience and soft-spoken voice. In fact, some people describe him as appearing almost fragile, his slender hands looking as if they belonged to a sensitive, skilled artist.

But it doesn't take long for anyone to find out that behind the reserved exterior is a dynamo of energy coupled with a brilliant grasp of the art of persuasion.

This helps explain why he receives the deepest respect from everyone who knows him, from diplomats with whom he has matched wits across a conference table to his office staff.

One of his former assistants says, "I never heard Thompson raise his voice. But everyone in the embassy knew when he said something that he meant business."

Other diplomats learned this when Thompson was U. S. High Commissioner and Ambassador to Austria. While holding his post, he played one of the major roles in the negotiation of the Austrian State Treaty under which the Soviet Army agreed to pull out of Austria.

This treaty is regarded as the most successful deal negotiated with the Kremlin since the end of World War II.

Thompson — amazingly demonstrated his seemingly unlimited storehouse of energy during the Hungarian Revolution. As U. S. Ambassador to Vienna he was swamped with the multitude of problems concerning resettlement of Hungarian refugees who had escaped into Austria.

The ambassador was so busy during these chaotic days that he seldom got a chance to even take a nap. But everyone at the embassy was astonished to find him always clean-shaven, alert and enthusiastic. One man who saw him then explains, "He looked like he had just climbed out of bed after eight hours sleep."

Foreign affairs observers believe it would be almost impossible to find a man better qualified to be U. S. Ambassador to Russia.

Thompson, who has worked 28 years in the foreign service, spent most of World War II in Russia and speaks the language fluently. He also took part in the important talks which led to the U. S.-Soviet agreement to form the United Nations.

Thompson believes the Soviets really want to negotiate a limited arms agreement. And he recently predicted that the chance would come after the close of the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

Although he treats the problems of his job with the utmost seriousness, close friends say the impeccably dressed diplomat has a fascinating dry sense of humor and is a charming, gracious host.

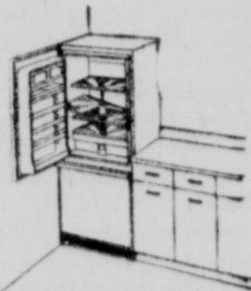

He's also an expert golfer and tennis player. His more relaxed pastimes are reading and listening to music.

Thompson is married and has three young daughters.

He was born in Colorado in 1904 and was graduated from the University of Colorado in 1928. His first job was as an accountant.

If anything like a street improvement program—modified, temporary or permanent—is to get underway this year in Sedalia it had better be given a start immediately.

Mayor Silverman and City Council are trying to do this although no genuine assurance is evident as yet that their immediate attention to this emergency condition will meet public acceptance.

All week long publicity has been given in the press, in public meetings and by word of mouth about the council's plan to invoke the 60-cent law to repair 35 miles of streets. Five ordinances relating to this were introduced at a recessed meeting last Monday.

These ordinances are scheduled to be called up for passage Monday night (June 16) in council meeting at city hall. Ever since the ordinances were introduced Mayor Silverman has encouraged the public, and those particularly who will be affected by the temporary street improvement program, to familiarize themselves with what council has under consideration, and either support or oppose the program.

Improving streets by invoking the 60-cent law is not the answer to Sedalia's street improvement problem. This is only an expedient, so temporary in nature that administration spokesmen emphasize this fact. They, too, favor permanent streets. However, there has been such public clamor over the ratty condition of Sedalia streets, council is impelled to do something. Sedalia's streets are impossible and a poor advertisement for newcomers.

Temporary improvement under the 60 cent law is estimated as low as 41½ cents per linear foot with assessment held to a maximum of 350 feet. Costs will run from $20 on up according to lot frontage. Predictions have been made the repairs will hold up for one or two years, maybe longer by good luck.

Under the 60-cent law the city can keep coming back each year to make temporary improvements. The taxpayer then would have to pay over a ten-year period in all likelihood as much as he would pay for a permanent improvement, and still only have a temporary street.

Some taxpayers argue that this temporary repair should be given a one-year trial because of the emergency with the idea of trying to sell property owners on making permanent improvements and preparing to get such a program underway next year.

Although technically remonstrances have no effect on council going ahead with the 60-cent measure, Sedalians have been invited to speak their objectionable pieces, if they have any.

As Mayor Silverman put it in candor to the Jaycees: "If you don't think the street in front of your house needs repair, come on down to Council meeting Monday night and raise hell."

Monday night is the time to do it, then, not after the street repairing machinery gets into deliberate motion.

U.S. Should Take Offensive For Peace

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The most important conclusion a newspaperman brings back from behind the now porous Iron Curtain is that the United States has to take the offensive for peace. Instead of talking about war and letting our missile program lag, we've got to keep the missile program strong, as an insurance policy, but nevertheless work at peace.

The Soviet-bloc countries have taken the initiative away from us in no uncertain terms when it comes to people-to-people friendship. This policy, publicly proclaimed by Ike at the Geneva Summit Conference in 1955, and re-emphasized by him as the official policy of the United States in 1956, has now been adopted by the satellites. They are not merely talking, they are acting. Like Dale Carnegie, they are out to win friends and influence people.

There is a complete reversal of the old days when the Iron Curtain was clamped tight and the only way you could get anything into Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Hungary was by balloon. In contrast to those drizzly nights in a German wheat field releasing freedom-friendship balloons seven years ago, this writer was welcomed everywhere in the satellite countries. Through my passport was stamped by the State Department "Not Valid for Travel in Hungary," this made no difference to the Hungarians.

The only thing they objected to was taking pictures of an old man sweeping up cigarette butts with a dilapidated broom at the Budapest airport. They had no objection to my taking pictures of a Hungarian Honor Guard welcoming Colonel Nasser or of the big Russian jet which earned Nasser from Moscow to Cairo. But they didn't like pictures taken of an old man sweeping cigarette butts with slow-motion inefficiency.

Head-in-Sand

Reason for the lifting of the Iron Curtain is easy to understand and extremely important. It results from two significant developments:

1. The governments of the Soviet bloc are no longer afraid to let people witness their economic situation. The old inference complex is gone. They have made progress and are proud to have people see it.
2. The governments of the satellite countries are no longer afraid their people will desert to the West because of comparisons with the West. This does not mean that the Russia-aided

Think It Through

—By E. F. Hutton

ONE MILLION $'S FOR NOTHING!—Some people think that the 27½ per cent depletion allowance given oil producers is a Government favor. Like heck it is! Take a slant at this.

The Magnolia Petroleum Company recently drilled a wildcat well to a depth of over 20,000 feet — almost four miles — cost 1,054,500 $'s. What came out of it? Nothing! It was a dry hole — a total loss.

Put this in your chapeau, Mister. It's going to take Magnolia's "percentage depletion" from about 658 average producing wells for an entire year to cover the loss from this one dry hole. Only about one wildcat well in nine is even moderately successful.

Oil is becoming harder and more costly to find. In order to keep pace with demand it's necessary to find and develop oil and gas at a faster clip than ever before. Within the next ten years the oil boys expect to drill more than 600,000 wells in the good old U.S.A., and all of this money is risk capital.

The boys will spend 60 to 70 billion bucks to develop new oil reserves. Finding oil is costly and what a risk! Oil enterprisers must take the chance of a profit or loss. One million $'s for nothing!

As I said, the depletion allowance amounts to insurance against an oil shortage. The latter could prove a bust-up for this country and for the entire world.

Dr. Jordan Says

Constant Low Temperature In Child No Cause for Worry

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

It is often puzzling for older people to know how to interpret certain symptoms which occur in youngsters.

For example, Mrs. H. has recently written that her 11-year-old granddaughter constantly has a low temperature. Her doctor, Mrs. H. says, tells her that some people naturally have a low temperature and there is no need for concern. The child, she adds, is unusually white, with a waxy skin.

It is quite true that the temperatures taken by a clinical thermometer often vary from person to person and in the same person from one time to another. It depends on how the temperature is taken and sometimes on the thermometer itself.

If this particular child has a slightly lower than "normal" reading on the clinical thermometer, but does not have other symptoms, then the situation can be safely ignored. Assuming this to be the case, it probably will cause undue worry to the child and to others if her temperature is taken at frequent intervals.

A most difficult question is asked by Mrs. E., who wishes advice on how to care for a mentally retarded son, age 19.

The first comment on this problem is that the question should not have been delayed so long. If parents are unfortunate enough to have a mentally retarded child they should certainly study their problems frankly and fully as soon as the diagnosis can be made.

In other words, there are differences between one child and another in the degree of mental backwardness, in the effect keeping such a child at home might have on brothers or sisters and, indeed, in the desirability of institutional rather than home care.

These questions can be settled only by individual study of the problems after the facts are known. Mrs. E., although late, should get advice from a psychiatrist, school authorities and others so that she will know what is best for her and her son.

Mrs. G. writes that she has a little boy of two who has been suffering with "weeping eczema" since he was three weeks old. Nothing which has been tried has cleared his skin so she is desperate for some way which can relieve this boy from his misery.

This is another puzzling and difficult problem. Eczema, which appears on the skin, is probably an allergic disorder.

That is, it is probably the result of some excessive sensitivity of this child to certain substances which he may eat, inhale or come in contact with.

The problem—and it is often a complicated one—is to try to find what this substance (or possibly substances) is. If this can be done and it can be eliminated, the eczema should get better.

Even if it cannot, there is a possibility that it will go away when the little boy gets a bit older. But he may be more likely to develop other allergic symptoms than children who have not had this experience.

The Mature Parent

Parent Who Won't Let Child See Funeral Is Modern Type

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Recently a neighbor of Mrs. P. took her six-year-old boy to a relative's funeral. Ever since, she and Mrs. P. have been arguing about the rightness of letting children see a dead person.

Mrs. P. writes, "When my husband's aunt died several months ago, he wanted me to take our two older children to the funeral. I refused to. I was right, wasn't I?"

As Mrs. P. herself seems to recoil from the mystery of death, I expect she was.

Today many others of us recoil from it, too. Though morticians try hard to protect us against its strangeness, they don't succeed in spite of their rouge and satin. As death is different from life, nobody can make it appear to be the same.

But the fact that we pay morticians to try to make it appear the same indicates a horror of the difference that is easily communicable to children. So those who feel it do well to spare their shock and recoil.

However, among less civilized people where death and grief are accepted as part of life, children are exposed to them without harm.

Perhaps we have developed our modern horror of death as the rituals of mourning have gone out of fashion.

In the old days, our ancestors took time to grieve at death instead of wanting to pretend it hadn't happened. Custom encouraged them to retreat behind drawn blinds and heavy veils to fully experience their sorrow.

I used to think the custom morbid. Now the speed with which we dispose of the dead and our grief is what seems morbid to me.

But today we are speedy with all deep experience.

When we marry we do it in our lunch hour between business appointments. Some psychologists regard honeymoons as unsound. When we give birth, we're back on our feet in three days.

It all seems very efficient, saving time and money. But as marriage, birth and death are our most vital experiences, the speed with which we rush through the profound emotions they involve may not be so efficient as we think.

If we let them happen to us instead of running away from them the way we do, maybe our divorce courts and psychiatrists wouldn't be so busy.

Dads

It's mighty hard to be a dad, I guess. And try to keep in step with everything. Sometimes it seems that life is just a mess.

You wonder what the next day's going to bring. There's always such demands upon Dad's time.

So many things his kids think he should do; A fellow may be just in his prime.

But feels, sometimes, like he is 92; The bike needs fixing or a pair of skates.

A swing, a wagon, or a doll, perhaps, It must be now, a youngster never waits.

They won't be still until their Daddy naps; A million questions do they ask each day.

They romp and yell and make a lot of noise, They think their Dad should always want to play.

With his own little girls and little boys; And Mama smiles at them in pure relief.

She's had to answer questions all day through, This moment in the day, to her, is brief.

Now she can do the things she needs to do; Ah, yes, a hard day finally ends, it seems.

When he comes home to get a little rest, But no, the small face up at him beams.

'Tis then a Dad is really put to test, But there are times when he is very proud.

He brags about his youngsters to his friends, And he is glad to hear their voices, loud.

To greet him as his day of labor ends; He wants to take a part, now, in their fun.

And in their play he really wants to share; And when he sees them kneel as day is done.

He's grateful as he listens to their prayer, Harold M. Lang.

Storm Clouds Over Turkey

Economy Long Unsound May Break Disastrously

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Storm clouds are massing over Turkey, the nation on which American diplomacy in the Mid-East hinges.

Turkish friendship for the United States is as constant as its hostility to Russia. Unfortunately, other forces complicate the picture.

The Turkish economy, which has been unsound for several years, may break disastrously. And if that happens, Turkey may be unable to play out her assigned role.

Even if the Turks somehow muddle through their economic crisis, there is an excellent possibility that all their attention will be devoted to Cyprus.

This beautiful island is held by the British. The Greeks want all of it. The Turks are plugging for partition, which the Greeks oppose.

To the Greeks, the British are the villains of the unlovely Cyprus drama. To the Turks, the Greeks are the villains.

Recently, the Turks have taken a stiffer line. The language from Ankara has an ominous ring. At a mass meeting in Istanbul, speakers sharply denounced Greece. Even the British were criticized. And on Cyprus, many Greeks were hurt by rioting Turks.

Nominally, the Greeks and Turks are allies. NATO plans for defense of the Eastern Mediterranean assume cooperation between them. But unless the Cyprus situation is brought under control, the prospect of cooperation is dim.

The two nations are more likely to be at each other with American supplied weapons. Of course, the American intention in supplying these weapons was to dampen Russian enthusiasm for Balkan adventuring.

There is still a chance that an explosion over Cyprus can be averted. Merely averting the explosion would be a big plus, though its distracting influence no doubt will continue to turn Turkish eyes from more important problems.

Of these, the economic problem is most serious. Turkey was a neutral throughout most of World War II. As a consequence its economy flourished. Since then, the Turkish economy has drifted steadily down hill.

By last fall the drift had reached the point where coffee, the national drink, was unavailable at Istanbul's swankiest hotel.

Istanbul had the appearance then, as it does now, according to latest reports, of a vast gray rubble heap. Demolition and reconstruction of the city is one of the many projects undertaken on the order of Premier Menderes.

It has been noted that the Menderes regime has a regrettable tendency to attempt new projects before completing those already begun. As a result, it has become more difficult for the Turks to raise fresh money.

There is nothing very secret about the bleak facts recorded in the preceding paragraphs. But the question that has not been answered is whether the information has been digested and acted upon in the higher echelons of the State Department.

The significant developments on the international front of late have come as a distinct surprise to American policy makers. The triumph of de Gaulle, the failure of the Indonesian revolt, the nasty episodes experienced by Vice President Nixon on his tour of South America—these are just a few dreary examples.

One cannot help but think that these developments were surprising only because of the preconceptions held by the top policy planners. If that be the case, the near collapse of Turkey would also come as a shock. And it's a possibility.

Having a System Takes Confusion From Housework

Any woman who finds housework hectic can relieve some of the pressure by using the techniques of women who seem to do their work easily. Here are just a few of them as a starter.

Keep lists.

A list of needed staples for the kitchen. A list of errands that have to be run, so that as many as possible can be combined in one trip. A list of special jobs that need to be done in the near future, so that some of them can be accomplished in those free half-hours that come along occasionally. A list of telephone calls to be made, so that you don't forget to check on a dental appointment for one of the children, or order by telephone something that will save a last-minute trip to town.

Assign jobs to the children.

Right at first it would often be easier for a housewife to do a job herself than get a child to do it right. But taking the trouble to teach him and insisting that he be responsible for it pays off well in the end.

Plan ahead.

Plan menus a week in advance and market just once or twice a week. The woman who is wondering at five o'clock what to buy for dinner is just complicating her life needlessly.

Get started on the housework bright and early in the morning. Don't make long telephone calls which could wait until the afternoon when a rest has been earned. Don't waste time having coffee with a neighbor, reading, or just putting around, wondering where to begin.

Do as much ahead of time as you can. It saves last minute panic and avoids last minute complications.

Make a clear distinction between the things that SHOULD be done and the things that HAVE to be done.

Then don't worry if all the "should-be-done" things don't get done immediately.

Finally, set your own housekeeping standards, instead of striving to keep up with a friend's or neighbor's.

Her intentions were the best in the world, but when he came home the young man found that his well meaning wife had pulled up all the carrots and left the weeds.

ONE OF THE women working in the Chamber of Commerce office was completely confused by the letters "S. U. of M." after so many names in the city directory.

"What do you suppose that means?" she asked her co-workers. "Is there such an industry in town?"

"No," she was told and the others were puzzled, too, as to what it could mean. Then one of them noticed that she had the wrong directory. Instead of the Sedalia city directory she had the Columbia directory, and the "S. U. of M." meant student at University of Missouri.

"Well, I thought," she said, "there were sure a lot of strange names in that directory I had never heard before."

STOPPING AT A drive-in eating place recently a family ordered hamburgers and hot dogs. The father and the little girl in the family decided they wanted another hot dog so they ordered them. In a short time the girl brought the hot dogs neatly wrapped in paper napkins. The little girl unwrapped hers and began eating but the man thought his felt strangely light, so he unwrapped it, took the top of the bun off and there was all the nice trimmings of meat sauce and everything that goes with hot dogs, but no hot dog.

He was reminded of the old carnival gag when a finger painted with iodine was stuck in the bun so the buyer could see it and then slyly pulled out as it was handed to the customer. The man selling it acting surprised and insisting that the hot dog must have been dropped on the ground.

Well, the girl had acted surprised, too, and she really was. In fact, she thought the man was kidding her when he said there was no hot dog between the bun and she was embarrassed when she found out he really meant it, for how in the world could they have put on the trimmings without noticing that there was no hot dog there. But he finally got fixed up with a nice big hot dog for his empty bun.

Matter of FACT

In 1783 John Jacob Astor, a poor German emigrant, sailed for America to seek his fortune. On the advice of his shipmates, he decided to enter the fur trade. By trading directly with the Indians, whom he often persuaded to exchange their entire season's catch for a few trinkets or a blanket, and by hard work and being thrifty, he acquired $200,000 in six years.

Mom Adopts The Cowboy As Her Hero

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Mother has moved right into Junior's footsteps and adopted the American cowboy as her hero symbol, TV producer Ted Rogers says.

Rogers has been thinking long thoughts on the subject in preparation for his Wide, Wide World study of that entertainment form this Sunday.

"Women," says Rogers, "like Westerns because cowboys are probably one of the last examples of the individual being more important than the group. To them, it is the cowboy versus the organization man."

"She looks at her TV screen, and then she looks at her husband, with an apron tied around his paunch, helping with the dishes. The cowboy is masculine, virile, decisive, possessive. When he has problems, he just pulls out his gun and settles the matter. If he doesn't like his job or his town, he just climbs on his horse and rides into the sunset."

"But if her husband doesn't like his boss, he can't shoot him. He just goes around mumbling and grumbling and getting ulcers." The American woman, too, resents her own situation, Rogers adds.

"She wants to be the woman of the West," he says flatly. "That woman was the center of attraction and men were competing for her favors—there were so few of them, you know. She wants to be fought over. She wants to contribute something. She knows that she should go and push the button to start the washing machine, but she really wants to stand by the broken window loading the carbine for her husband or hold the villains at bay with her Colt .45 while her admirer finds the mortgage that is going to save the ranch."

Rogers, who has looked long and hard at old motion pictures and done hours of studying insists that the real adult Western—as opposed to the old-fashioned kiddy show Western—is "one in which you really care about what happens to the characters."

"The good ones, with good story lines and values, are the ones which are going to last," he says. "You just can't beat entertainment that combines a good story, action, masculinity, morality symbols and outdoor grandeur—and appeals to everybody in the family."

New Film Strip Publicizes Country Women Worldwide

Over five million women are entitled to wear the badge of the Associated Country Women of the World, and every three years some fortunate women from Missouri, as from other states, are helped to attend the Triennial Conference. This world-wide meeting, held every third year, affords opportunity for women living in rural areas over the globe to become acquainted with one another. Headquarters for ACWW, in London, occasionally produces some bits of publicity about the Association in addition to regular publications. Among these is a film-strip entitled "Getting to Know You" which the Boonslick Regional Library has recently acquired for an indefinite period. Any group or individual may book the strip and the necessary projection equipment for a program.

Red Signals Save Train From Run Into Open Switch

Red signal lights probably averted a train wreck near Centerview Wednesday afternoon after someone had tampered with a switch on the Missouri Pacific's main line. The signal lights, which operate automatically, prevented a possible derailment of a Missouri Pacific passenger train when trainmen saw the signals and stopped before hitting the switch.

Walter Withaup, Jefferson City, special agent for the railroad, said a lock had been broken off a switching lever at Centerview and the switch changed to route any trains from the main line through a siding.

The train was saved from possible derailment by the fact that the red signal lights come on automatically to warn approaching trains of the open switch.

Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 14 was eastbound and saw the red light and stopped, finding the open switch. The train radioed to the Warrensburg station at 5:30 of its discovery.

At first it was believed a local freight train might have left the switch open, but later investigation proved that the freight train had left here at 12:10 p.m. Wednesday, passed through Centerview between 12:20 and 12:30 p.m., and after that time two other trains had passed through the switch without any trouble.

Mr. Withaup said the lock was missing from the switch, and a padlock on a box which controls the signal lights had been pounded on but was not opened.

A further investigation was made at Centerview by Mr. Withaup and Deputy Sheriff Robert D. Williams.

GRADUATION IS MOTHER'S DAY, TOO — Mrs. Nancy Hayward Robinson, of Jupiter, Fla., rehearses with son Charles H. Robinson, 18, for their dual graduation from high school. She carried a full course in her roles as student and mother during her final year of high school and maintained standing as an honor student. Her previous years of high school work were taken at Milford, Del.

Rodney Garnett Gives Speech to Junior Leaders

Guest speaker at the Pettis County 4-H Junior Leaders Council June 3 at the courthouse assembly room was Rodney Garrett. Rodney was an International Foreign Youth Exchange delegate to Norway last summer. He lived with four different families in Norway. Learning their habits and customs, and experiencing the joys and hardships made Rodney feel like one to the family. Rodney explained that his relationship with his friends did not end when he left Norway but had just begun.

Quisenberry and Flat Creek 4-H Clubs had perfect attendance at the council meeting; therefore, their names will be put on Mr. Henpeck for this month.

Larry Wilson reported on the litterbug committee. Members of the committee were: Glenda Rhodes, narrator; Dean Raines, Highway Patrolman; Jeannett Edmondson, and Zora Snow, drunken drivers.

The Council voted to have an exhibit at the State Fair this year. The following committee was appointed to supervise and construct the exhibit: Glenda Rhodes, chairman, Sara Oswald, William Finley, Patti Ball, Carolee Shirley, and Kim Dabner.

A committee was appointed for the picnic which will be held at the next meeting. Members of the committee were: Clifford Chapell, chairman, Don Welliver, Larry Wilson, Cathy DeBord, and Wanda Williams.

A litterbug skit was presented

Rhodes, narrator; Dean Raines, Highway Patrolman; Jeannett Edmondson, and Zora Snow, drunken drivers.
